Farmland

£75,000

Land at Henfeddau, Henfeddau Llanfyrnach, SA35 0DD

We present to market around 7.5 acres of mixed pastureland and scrub/woodland in one block which is split into 3 main enclosures. A small stream (The River Asen which marks the boundary between Pembrokeshire and Carmarthenshire) runs through most of the land. The land is a mixture of flat and sloping parts and the land has access off the highway (please note that the vendor will pay for the northerly boundary to be stock fenced before completion.)

The land is in a very scenic rural area about a 15 minute drive to Newcastle Emlyn and a 20 minute drive to Cardigan town. About 50% of the land is usable for immediate stock keeping (although it could benefit from reseeding and new fencing in places) whilst the remaining 50% currently is ideal for enjoying the natural world in the summer by camping out next to the stream etc (a grassed area perfect for camping out etc is cut regularly for this purpose -see pictures) although with work most of it could be relaid back to pasture if preferred.

There is spring water onsite (accessed via 5 concrete rings put in by Welsh Water decades ago) as part of this land was previously the official water source for the surrounding area.
